BRING WHAT EARNS ITS SPACE

Iceland packing checklist: layers, not a second suitcase

Pack for the time outside, the activity and how you can dry things afterward. This is a starting list for ordinary travel, not a complete equipment list for a hike, glacier tour or winter expedition. Check your operator's requirements separately.

The clothing system

- ☐ Comfortable base layers that suit the activity
- ☐ A warm middle layer
- ☐ A windproof waterproof outer layer
  Consider rain trousers for longer exposed outings; a city afternoon and a day on a trail need different choices.
- ☐ Hat and gloves you can reach easily
- ☐ Spare dry socks and a way to keep them dry
- ☐ Footwear with grip appropriate to your plans

The small day bag

- ☐ Refillable water bottle and food
- ☐ Phone, charging cable and power bank
- ☐ Your usual medication and personal essentials
- ☐ Protection for things that must stay dry
- ☐ Saved booking, address and transport details

Only if the itinerary needs it

- ☐ Swimwear and towel for a pool visit
- ☐ Sun protection appropriate to the conditions
- ☐ Any specific equipment required by your guide or operator
- ☐ Check chargers and plug compatibility before packing an adapter

DATE / AREA / NOTES

_____

_____

_____

Planning aid only. Follow official warnings, road restrictions and operator instructions. A completed checklist is not a travel clearance.

Check wind and rain at your destination on Fast | Check the forecast before choosing clothes | Read official clothing advice
Forecast: fast.upperblue.com/en/weather/ | BlueBlunder and Upperblue Fast share an owner.